The Characteristic Town Is the Effective Path of the New-type Urbanization

New-type Urbanization and Construction of Towns

Urbanization is the only way to realize the economy and society transformation development, and it is also the only way to realize modernization. The Communist Party of China Central Committee has always attached great importance to urban development, and put forward clearly that “persisting in the coordinated development of large, medium and small cities and small towns, enhancing the comprehensive bearing capacity of the cities, in accordance with the step by step, saving land, intensive development and rational distribution principle, actively and steadily promoting urbanization and gradually changing the dualistic structure of urban and rural areas” in the “In 11th five-year plan for national economic and social development” which has made as early as 2006 year. In 2007, the Seventeenth National Congress of the Party emphasized again that “following a route of urbanization with its own characteristics, according to the principles that is urban-rural harmonious development, rational layout, saving land, perfect functions, in a large band to promote the coordinated development of large, medium and small cities and small towns”.

In 2012 year the Eighteenth National Congress of the Party emphasized again that “adhering to the new path of industrialization, informatization, urbanization, agricultural modernization with Chinese characteristics, to promote the depth of integration of information technology and industrialization and the interaction of industrialization and urbanization, the coordination of urbanization and agricultural modernization, to promote simultaneous development of industrialization, informatization, urbanization and agricultural modernization”. From “promoting the healthy development of urbanization” to “the road of urbanization with Chinese characteristics”, and then to “new-type urbanization with Chinese characteristics”, the strategic direction and path of urbanization become clearer and clearer. At present, “new-type urbanization” has become the common understanding of the whole society, and has become the practice and concept of urbanization in various parts of the country.

In 2014 year, The Central Committee of the Communist Party of China issued the “New national urbanization planning (2014-2020 years)”. Based on these guidelines, a new urbanization plan which accorded with the local realities has been worked out, which provides a basis for the development of urbanization. The new-type urbanization was the human-oriented and based on “city, better life”. It emphasized the real citizenization of the agricultural transfer of population. The new-type urbanization payed attention to the quality of urban development, as Xi Jinping laid stress on the importance that it is impossible to push the urbanization too fast or too slow, and it should be promoted the transformation of urbanization to quality improvement (SHEN,
The new-type urbanization emphasizes ecological civilization. At the end of 2012, the Central Economic Working Conference pointed out that we should integrate the concept and principles of ecological civilization into the whole process of urbanization and take a intensive, intelligent, green and low-carbon new urbanization road (LI & GU, 2012). The new-type urbanization should focus on the coordinated development of large, medium-sized and small cities and small towns and focus on the integration of urban and rural areas. The new-type urbanization should focus on the four modernization synchronization, and it is the urbanization based on agricultural modernization (SHAN, 2014, pp. 108-111).

The new-type urbanization strategy has brought new opportunities for the construction of small towns, and the establishment of small towns are the proper meaning of the new-type urbanization. Small towns is the end of the city and the head of the rural areas, which is the bridge between city and rural, which is an important carrier of transferring rural surplus population. So the small towns have a brilliant future in promoting economic prosperity and development of rural society, diffusing city civilization, realizing the integration of urban and rural areas.

The new-type urbanization emphasizes the coordinated development of large, medium-sized and small cities and small towns and provide macro policy support for the development of small towns. The new-type urbanization pays close attention to the livelihood of people, caring for happiness and sense of gain of people (WANG, 2016, PP. 12-21). this concept provides the value direction for the small towns development. The new-type urbanization pays attention to build a livable environment and inheritance of history and culture, which provides a target for the development of small towns. With the improvement of living standard of people who pursue a high quality of life, the small towns with the advantages such as good air quality and drinking water, quiet living environment, low cost of living, abundant parking space, loose humanistic environment and so on, has become a place for people to yearn for, so it will bring the new development of small towns.

The three characteristic towns internet town Wuzhen, Aficion chocolate town Jiashan, photovoltaic town Xiuzhou all adhere to the industry, culture and tourism “Trinity” development. It outstands the historical and cultural advantages, and parts from the cultural desert phenomenon of traditional industrial zone, and highlights the humanities temperament.
